

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE

THIS catalogue is being sent to each of the 8,300 living members of the Fraternity in accordance with the generous offer of Henry W. Austin of Chicago, now President of the Fraternity, to meet any deficit that might occur if the plan of general circularization were carried out. Fortunately the voluntary subscriptions of many of the members will distribute the expense so that it will not be borne by Mr. Austin alone.

It was decided to make the book of pocket size, printed in clear (though necessarily somewhat small) type on thin paper and bound with flexible covers, in order to attain the maximum of usefulness. In addition to the list of members by Chapters (giving the delegation, address and occupation), with alphabetical index and geographical index, the book contains much summarized information regarding the Fraternity and its history in form available for reference. This is the fifteenth catalogue issued by the Fraternity since it was founded eighty-three years ago and contains the names of 11,952 initiates (of whom 3,644 are deceased) to the close of the academic year 1914-1915.

Since July, 1907, the Fraternity has had its offices and headquarters at the Alpha Delta Phi Club of the City of New York, a picture of which appears at the beginning of this volume. The Executive Council holds its meetings at the Club and transacts its business from it. Any member of the Fraternity whose class has been graduated can be proposed for membership in the organization. At the present time the roll of the Club includes about a thousand names, representing all the chapters. It is an attractive modern clubhouse with over fifty bedrooms, erected in 1907, and provides a suitable place where the graduates and undergraduates may be brought into closer touch with one another and with the Fraternity.

The Fraternity asks the active interest of all members of Alpha Delta Phi in maintaining the card index from which this catalogue was compiled, the accuracy of which was attained through efficient assistance in the Fraternity office. Notices of deaths or of changes or of misstatements of address should be sent to the Alpha Delta Phi, 136 West Forty-fourth Street, New York City.

Those who have had the responsibility for the publication of this volume are deeply grateful to the many members who have assisted them in their work.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

THE Fraternity was founded at Hamilton College in 1832 by Samuel Eells, of the class of '32. When Mr. Eells entered college in 1827 there were two literary societies at Hamilton, the Phoenix and the Philopeuthian, between which a bitter and active rivalry existed. He joined the Philopeuthian, to escape importunity and persecution but the struggle for supremacy became so desperate and the means of persuasion so unscrupulous that he determined to form a new society. In a history of the foundation of the Fraternity, Mr. Eells says: "The effect of this state of things on the character of the students was deplorable. It seemed to chill all the noble and generous affections of the youthful spirit and destroyed or corrupted the very elements of honorable and manly character. It was a contemplation of these and similar evils that first suggested to me the idea of establishing a society of a higher nature, and more comprehensive and better principles; one that should combine all the advantages of a union for intellectual and literary purposes and at the same time maintain the integrity of youthful character and cultivate those finer feelings which the college society extinguished or enfeebled. The new association first must exclude that jealousy and angry competition and secondly must be built on a more comprehensive scale providing for every variety of taste and talent, and thirdly it must be national and universal in its adaptations so as not merely to cultivate a taste for literature or furnish the mind with knowledge; but with a true philosophical spirit looking to the entire man so as to develop his whole being, — moral, social and intellectual."

The attempt to establish a chapter of K A at Hamilton in 1830 and the establishment of a chapter of Σ Φ there in 1831 probably suggested to Mr. Eells some of the details in the development of his carefully considered plan.

The Fraternity was judiciously extended, the first chapters, being established either by the founders of the parent chapter, or those closely associated with them. It was the pioneer fraternity in eleven colleges and the second or third in eight others. As it sought students of decided literary tastes, it soon acquired a distinctive literary character.

It may not be inappropriate to notice the extent of the fraternity system at the time Miami, the first Western chapter, was established in 1833. K A the pioneer of the system had two chapters; viz., at Union and Williams. $\Delta \Phi$ and $\Psi \Upsilon$ were still local societies at Union, while $\Sigma \Phi$ had two chapters, viz., at Union and Hamilton. In other words, the system was then confined to two States, New York and Massachusetts, and to three colleges, Union, Hamilton and Williams, when the founder of A $\Delta \Phi$ boldly planted its second chapter, at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, beyond the Alleghanies, in what was then emphatically the "West." Ohio was therefore the third state and Miami the fourth institution to serve as a home to the fraternities. The act of A $\Delta \Phi$ in establishing its second chapter at Miami was important in its results, as it led to the foundation of the three national fraternities, B Θ Π , $\Phi \Delta \Theta$ and ΣX , forming a Miami Triad as K A, $\Delta \Phi$, and $\Sigma \Phi$ had formed a Union Triad.

There are 24 active and 7 inactive chapters; 8,308 living and 3,644 deceased members, a total of 11,952.

The Hamilton chapter in 1882 erected the "Samuel Eells Memorial Hall," a handsome stone building, in honor of the founder, which has since served as the hall of the chapter. The Miami chapter was established by the personal efforts of Mr. Eells; this chapter died at the suspension of the University in 1873 and has not since been revived. In 1838 it admitted some five members from Cincinnati and for some years it was supposed that a chapter had been established there but none were chartered. After four years of existence the Urban chapter was withdrawn in 1839 at the request of its own members to avoid the initiation of lower classmen in opposition to a rival society. The Columbia chapter was the first at that college and grew so strong immediately after its establishment that its prosperity incited the envy of the non-fraternity men and its members surrendered its charter in 1840 to allay the resulting dissensions in the college. In 1881 the chapter was revived, nine other fraternities having meanwhile established chapters there. The last two chapters named were mainly instrumental in the establishment of the chapter at Yale.

The Yale chapter enjoyed a prosperous career down to 1869. It then began to decline, and this, in connection with the opposition to the system in Yale, at that time, by which only the Juniors were eligible to membership in the general fraternities, led to the surrender of its charter in 1873. It was revived in 1888 as a four-year society, but in 1895 yielded to the pressure of local college sentiment and became a "junior" society. Since the abolition of the local sophomore societies in 1903, it, and the other general academic fraternities at Yale have initiated members from the three upper classes. It now possesses a fine stone hall. The Amherst chapter was formed from a local society called I II K in 1836 and was the first national fraternity at the college. During its earliest years, its membership was confined to the upper classmen. In 1845, in response to a demand that the faculty be permitted to inspect its constitution and records, the chapter offered to and did admit to membership the president of the college, averting the opposition of the college authorities.

The Brunonian chapter was suspended in 1838 on account of the prejudice against initiating lower classmen. It was revived in 1851. The Harvard chapter was established on a literary basis, its earliest members being the editors of the college monthly. It ceased to exist with the graduation of the class of 1865 on account of the existing opposition to the secret societies and was succeeded by the "A. D. Club." The chapter was revived in 1879 and again withdrawn in 1907 at the instance of its own members, who found it difficult to fulfill their obligations to the fraternity and at the same time conform to the customs of the Club system at Harvard. The members formed the "Fly Club."

The charter of the Geneva chapter was withdrawn in 1876, at its own request, on account of the decline in the number of eligible students in attendance at that time. The Hudson chapter, founded by Samuel Eells and named after the town in which the university was formerly located, was the first one established at Western Reserve. The Dartmouth chapter sprang from a local society called T Δ Θ, which originated in 1842. The Peninsular chapter was the third chapter organized at Ann Arbor, and passed through all the vicissitudes of the conflict between the faculty and the students, known as the "fraternity war." The chapter at Rochester was originally at Colgate (then Madison) University where it existed, however, less than a year. Soon after its establishment a large number of the professors and students left Madison and went to Rochester, where they established the University of Rochester. A majority of the new chapter located at the new seat of learning under the name of the Empire chapter, which was changed to Rochester in 1870.

The Alabama chapter was killed by anti-fraternity laws in 1857. Under the advice of its graduate members a chapter was founded at Cumberland University in 1857, where it was killed by the war. The Manhattan chapter was established at what was then called the New York Free Academy. For many years it maintained a summer camp at Lake George called "Camp Manhattan." It became inactive in 1913. The Middletown chapter was formed from two societies at Wesleyan, one called the Betrian, organized in 1849, and another called the Lebanian, organized in 1854.

The Union chapter was derived from a local society called the "Fraternal Society," founded in 1833, and the Phi Kappa chapter from a similar society at Trinity, whose name it bears. The younger chapters were formed mainly from local societies organized for the expressed purpose of obtaining charters. The Wisconsin chapter was a local called $\Phi P B$, California $\Phi \Sigma \Delta$ and Illinois $\Pi \Phi$.

Twenty of the chapters own their own houses and the other four, viz., Hudson, Johns Hopkins, California and Illinois, have raised funds and expect to purchase or build houses shortly.

The alumni have formed graduate associations at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Chicago, New York, Albany, Buffalo, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and elsewhere. At New York City they maintain a club, composed exclusively of graduate members of the fraternity and which owns a fine modern club house, eight stories high, erected in 1907 at 136 West 44th Street, near the heart of the city. The house and furnishings represent a total investment of about $300,000. The club has about 1000 members, has been in operation for 25 years and is the center of all the activities of the Fraternity.

Clarence A. Seward, Geneva, '48, when president of the fraternity in 1897, founded the three Seward Scholarships the total endowment of which now amounts to $25,000. One is always held by a member of the Hamilton chapter; the second and third are held for four years by members of the other chapters in rotation.

The government of the Fraternity was for many years in an unsettled condition, various expedients having been adopted and thrown aside, after trying in vain to unite the feature of entire independence in the chapters with strength and aggressiveness in the policy of the Society as a whole. The problem was solved to the satisfaction of the Fraternity in 1879, by the formation of a corporation by a special act of the New York Legislature, called THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF THE ALPHA DELTA PHI FRATERNITY. This consists of four general officers of the fraternity ex-officio, of nine members at large, the terms of three of whom expire each year, and of one representative for each inactive chapter (all elected by the annual convention), and of two representatives elected by each active chapter; it is intended that those elected by the active chapters shall reside in or near New York City. This Council transacts business through an executive committee of nine members. The actions of the Council are subject to review by the annual conventions.

During the past few years much has been accomplished in unifying the fraternity, broadening and developing its field of usefulness and making the administration of its affairs more progressive and efficient. Each chapter is visited each year by delegates from some other chapter and itself visits a third chapter, the schedule being rearranged annually. In 1911 the Council established the position of traveling secretary as a graduate institution to be supported entirely by the alumni, and since then the Amherst Fund of $10,000, the Williams Fund of $10,000, and several individual gifts have been contributed toward the permanent endowment of the work.

Conventions of the Fraternity have been held as follows:

Utica, N. Y., 1836, 1876, 1892; New York, 1837, 1841, 1857, 1868, 1882, 1888, 1893, 1895, 1899, 1905, 1907, 1911; New Haven, Conn., 1839, 1845, 1847, 1856, 1869, 1889, 1910; Clinton, N. Y., 1854; Amherst, Mass., 1850, 1860, 1912; Geneva, N. Y., 1853, 1867; Cambridge, Mass., 1855; Williamstown, Mass., 1858, 1877, 1914; Oxford, Ohio, 1859; Schenectady, N. Y., 1863, 1909; Rochester, N. Y., 1864, 1880, 1890; Providence, R. I., 1865, 1875, 1881, 1897; Cleveland, Ohio, 1866, 1883, 1894; Portland, Maine, 1870, 1906; Middletown, Conn., 1871, 1878, 1884; Ann Arbor, Mich., 1872, 1885, 1896; Ithaca, N. Y., 1873, 1886; Albany, N. Y., 1874; Hartford, Conn., 1879, 1900; Boston, 1887; Baltimore, 1891; Toronto, 1898; Buffalo, N. Y., 1901; Washington, D. C., 1902; Montreal, 1903; Chicago, 1904; Minneapolis, 1908; Madison, Wis., 1913; San Francisco, 1915.

The catalogue of the Fraternity was first issued in 1837 at New York, and contained the names of the members of eight chapters, arranged alphabetically by chapters. The next four editions, published at New Haven in 1840 and 1845, at Cambridge in 1851, and at Boston in 1854, contained the names of the members arranged in one general alphabetical list. The succeeding editions, published at Concord, N. H., in 1857, New Haven, 1860, New York, 1865, Utica, N. Y., 1870, and Albany, N. Y., 1876, have the names arranged by chapters in the approximate order of their establishment. The semi-centennial edition of the catalogue was edited by a committee, and was published at Boston in 1882. It was a fine piece of work, complete in its information and ample in its details. It contained much historical information, kinship tables, a bibliography, a complete military record of those members who served in the Civil War, and various statistical tables. A supplement was issued in 1889. In 1899 another edition was published with even ampler details than the edition of 1882. In 1909 and 1915 condensed catalogues, without biographical detail, were published by the Executive Council.

Song books have been published at New Haven in 1855; at New York in 1859; Albany, N. Y., in 1864; Geneva, N. Y., in 1869; Amherst, Mass., in 1875, and New York, 1896, 1904 and 1912. The last two give the music as well as the words.

There are several pieces of instrumental music bearing the name of the fraternity. The official journal of the fraternity was called the Star and Crescent, and was published at New York City. A trial number was issued in May, 1880, and the publication of the first volume commenced in October of that year. It was a handsomely printed quarterly journal of quarto size, with a cover in the fraternity colors. With the beginning of the fourth volume in November, 1883, it was reduced to an octavo, and continued until the end of Volume V in July, 1885, when it ceased to exist. It was well managed and contained many articles of general interest.

The original badge of the fraternity is an oblong slab with rounded corners, displaying on a field of black enamel a white crescent bearing the letters "A Δ Φ;" above the crescent is a green star with a gold center, and below is the date "1832" in gold. On the back are engraved a monument with crossed sword and spear. This badge was partly superseded for some years by a jeweled crescent displaying the letters "A Δ Φ" holding a star between its horns, which was at first used as a graduate symbol only. In 1912 the fraternity adopted a standard slab badge and restricted the wearing of its insignia to the standard badge in the case of undergraduates and to a badge or pendant by graduates. The colors of the Fraternity are emerald green and white, with gold and black as subsidiary. Its gems are the emerald and pearl, its flower is the lily-of-the-valley.
